

thrillist

All The Coolest Things to Do in San Diego This Weekend

Cookies and beer, sunset yoga and more!

By Mary Beth Abate Updated on 2/17/2021 at 5:42 PM

PHOTO COURTESY OF DUCK DIVE

February might be the shortest month, but it's pretty packed with all sorts of cool stuff to (safely) do. We've got our eyes on the heavens this weekend, literally and figuratively, as we witness a Martian landing, watch the moon glide through a celestial hexagon, and celebrate the second weekend of Lunar New Year, plus a beer festival, a National Margarita Day preview, and a mood-lifting sunset yoga session at the beach. Here's everything you can eat, drink, and do in San Diego this weekend:

Start your weekend with cookies and beer

Thursday, February 18 - Sunday, February 2

Pacific Beach

Girl Scout cookies are back and Duck Dive in Pacific Beach has them in a new pairing dubbed Because Who Needs Milk— four five-ounce tasters specially matched with Girl Scout cookies that complements the flavors of both. You'll sample Societe Brewings's Belgian Blonde, The Harlot, with Lemon-up; Pizza Port's iconic Chronic Ale and coconutty, caramel Samoa; Mother Earth's staple, Cali Creamin vanilla cream ale alongside peanut butter-filled Do-si-do; and Modern Times Black House coffee-flavored beer plus Thin Mint. Duck Dive is open for outdoor dining, takeout, and delivery, Thursday and Friday from 10 am–10 pm, and Saturday and Sunday from 9 am–10 pm.

Cost: $12

Thrillist San Diego features Duck Dive

2.17.2021